WE learn on good authority, that advices have been received from Bangkok under date of 18th Ulto, which state that owing to the want of rain, the Government had determined on continuing the prohibition regarding the export of Rice for three months longer.

WE now proceed to redeem our promise relative to a description of the present state of offairs in Macao, and to the vast improvement in both the condition and the prospects of the place caused by the policy of Governor Amaral. On His Excellency's arrival, he found the colony a perfect wreck, not only in its commer-Y cial relations, but in its absolute condition. The streets formed good grazing ground for gonts, grass being ankle deep on the finding themselves protected and encouraged, to nothing; so much so that the denizeus of nese for a song, and these were allowing the indulge in perambulators, and they are altohouses they purchased to fall to pieces, because they were not worth the cost of repairs. The thoroughferes presented the appearance denuded of all its abuses, and is now a real of a necropolis sometimes a priest on pastoral duty might be met in the street, and here and Havana excepted. > BANGKOK MARKETS. BANGEOR, 24th August, 1865.

It affords us much pleasure to be able to inform you today that the Siamese Government has eided to remove the restriction on the rice trade and that the exportation of Rice is open from this dist. This decision having been taken only late last night, the official proclamation has not been distributed as yet; there is no doubt however regarding the fact, and by the first opportunity we shall take the liberty to send you a copy of the Government notification. We connot entertain for the present too sanguine hopes for a very speedy revival of our expert rice trade as some time must pressarely pass, before prices, which still rule much too high for shipments, have been brought down by the supplies from up country (these supplies, now when Bangkok trade is once more open, we hope will not fail to arrive in ample quantities.) Under all circumstances however, the judicious decision of Government to free the trade from all restriction, gives a general feeling of security. According to advices from the interior, in some districts the yield of the crop promises to be a yery good one whilst from others scarciny of rain is reported; should however the next month bring us sufficient rain, there is still a prospect for a fair yield in these latter districts also, and as a much larger quantity of paddy was planted this year than in any of the former ones, we have every reason to expect, even with an average fair yield of the crop, to see at the end of the year ance more the wonted activity in our export and freight business.
